Welcome Back:
Welcome back to everyone for term 3. With the London Olympics due to begin next Friday this promises to be an exciting term for learning with many stimulating activities planned across the school. A special welcome back to John and Luanda Pianta who spent last term travelling through outback New South Wales and Queensland learning more about our ‘wide brown land’. It’s great to have them back. We also welcome Mrs Anita Dinon who will be teaching Lisa Watters’ class for the next five weeks and Mrs Pam Cukierman who will be teaching Annie Johnston’s class for the remainder of this term. We are delighted to have both these enthusiastic teachers at Donvale this term.

Basketball Presentation:
Last night many of our students participated in their end of season Basketball Presentation held in the GP room. Before the presentations were made our children enjoyed a BBQ and the chance to hone their skills on the school basketball courts. Thankyou to the parents who coach and support our teams in the Doncaster Primary Schools Basketball Competition.

Congratulations to all of our participating students who were awarded a medal last night for their efforts. A pennant was also awarded to teams that were Premiers or Runners Up.

State Basketball Team Selection
Donvale Primary School student Lachlan H has been selected in the Victorian 12 year old and under Boys Basketball Team. It has been a great performance by Lachlan following a rigorous selection process that began in March 2012, to make the final team of 10. His impressive performances caught the eye of the Victorian team selectors, and he was invited to attend further selection trials that eventually culminated in his selection. Lachlan will join with team-mates to play in a series of practice matches and training sessions before competing in the School Sport Australian Championship to be held in Melbourne from Saturday, August 11th to Friday, August 17th, 2012. The cost to each student/family is an excess of $1200, which includes team levy, uniform, administration, first aid and other expenses. At Donvale we will assist by having a casual dress day (gold coin donation) prior to the championships. Lachlan, congratulations on your selection and good luck.

P.S. Lachlan will bring his State uniform to a Monday morning assembly when he collects it.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY

20th - 26th July

Try this: Share some cakes!

You will need
Three cakes (include a fancy one with icing, filling and sweet decorations on it, and at least one rectangular one)
Knife
Friends to share with
A plate for each person
Measuring cups, spoons, scales

Method 1: I cut, you choose
Select one person to be the cutter.
The cutter cuts the cake into even-sized slices, with one slice for each person.
Once the cake is cut, everybody takes turns to select a slice each. They can choose any slice that hasn’t already been taken.
The cutter gets the last slice.

Method 2: Moving knife
This sharing method is easier with a rectangular cake.
Choose one person to be the (temporary) cutter.
The cutter slowly moves the knife down the length of the cake. At any point, any person can yell "stop!"
When someone yells "stop!" the cutter immediately cuts the cake at that point and gives that person the slice.
The person with a slice of cake is not allowed to yell "stop!" again.
After the first round, the cutter should give the knife to the person who has a slice of cake – now that they have their cake, they have no reason to cheat.
Repeat the process until only one person has no cake. That person gets everything that remains.

Method 3: Measuring it exactly
Warning: this can get very messy
Look at your cake, and identify the different materials in it. For example, a cake may have filling, icing, fruit on top, and so on.
Break the cake up and put each material into its own pile.
Use measuring spoons to divide each pile of stuff evenly between all the people.

Wrapping it all up
After you have shared all three cakes, talk with your friends about the different ways of sharing a cake. Which one is fairest?

What's happening?
There is no single way to share all things. Instead there are many different ways, and each has good and bad points.
'I cut, you choose’ might sound fair, but if you’re cutting several slices, there’s a good chance one of them will end up a bit smaller than the rest. This means ‘I cut you choose’ isn’t fair for the person cutting.
'The moving knife' is reasonably fair as long as no one tries to get more than they deserve. However, if the players all try and get more than their fair share, some people might end up with very little.
'Measuring it exactly’ might be the fairest way in this activity, but it’s not necessarily the best way. For many people, a pile of icing and a pile of cake crumbs isn’t as nice as a complete slice of cake.
It’s useful to consider different methods for sharing things. If you’re just sharing a muesli bar, then a simple method, like ‘I cut, you choose', is quick and gives a pretty good result. If you’re trying to share out chores around the house, a more complicated method might be useful.

Coming up Term 3, 2012

Understand this era of Art and develop appreciation of the technique and the times of these artists whose work is exhibited in the most important galleries in the world. How did the times and places they lived in affect the way they painted. What is a “plain air” painter? Try your hand at using these same techniques to paint your own masterpiece. Develop your own art skills and knowledge of art so that you can do better presentations, better projects, have more fun with art activities, get increased pleasure from the quality of your own work and be able to critically evaluate art from this period. All materials included.
